

As it is seen, even Ottoman fought at eight fronts, it primarily thought the safety of minorities. However, others with Armenians rebelled against the Empire with the provocations of foreign states. Armenians, who were sheltered under the auspices of the Empire and acted as privileged, forgot these and did not refrain from kill defenceless women, children and elders in Eastern Anatolia at the most delicate time of the Empire. Although it had been a long time, even today mass graves of Turks, killed by Armenians, are seen. However, Ottoman Empire only made them migrate to Syria. It is not difficult to predict how they would act If people, who try to give humanity lesson to us, experience these incidents. This incident is told as Turks killed Armenians and this question fronts us even today in different times. Because Talat bey signed Deportation Law was seen as the biggest enemy and despite all those years Armenians flame with vengeance even today. Talat Bey was shot to kill by an Armenian, named Teleyran, as he was leaving his house in Berlin. Arrested killer confessed without hesitation that he killed Talat bey because of Deportation Law, enacted in 1915. Later, we encounter several activities of Armenian Terrorist Group, ASALA. Various European countries erect monuments for So-called 24 April 1915 Armenian genocide.

Against intentions and acts that have continued on our Anatolia for more than one century, our passive and slothful behaviour has definitely prevented us to be effective in the scenarios, staged on the international arena.

How would it not hinder? The average number of works, which were published by Armenians, from 1874, the starting point of “the price for state and genocide in Anatolia” efforts, to 1985, in European languages, was 3582 (three thousands five hundreds eighty two). Most of their prefaces were written by Prime Ministers, Minister of International Affairs, Historians and famous man of letters of the period. Armenian groups distributed these works in a perfect system, enabled articles to be written about them in newspapers and chose the smartest way to form a public opinion in Europe and World.

We have 12 (twelve) idea arms with which we fight against three thousands and so works.

Opposing this unbalance, it is really difficult to find a justifiable of the complaint, “Why do Europeans give ear to them not us?” The reason of all these is that we do not take necessary lessons from our history.
